

Beijing No. 27 Middle School

No.27 Middle School, situated in Donghuamen Street, Dongcheng District, the centre of Beijing, is a famous school with a long history. Originally founded by the well-known Chinese educationist Cai Yuanpei in 1917, it is now a modern school with over 1600 students and 140 teaching and administrative staff. It enjoys a high reputation for its great contribution to the community. Among its numerous outstanding alumni are physicist Qian Sanqiang, artist Yu Shizhi, playwright Wu Zuguang, musician Wu Zuqiang and social expert Chen Xiangmei, whose accomplishments are recognized both at home and abroad.

The school is an ideal place for learning. We have a modern classroom building where each and every classroom is equipped with advanced multi-media facilities, a lab building, a multi-functional hall, an auditorium and a plastic cement playground. We boast a faculty known for their devotion, passion, creativity and rich experience and knowledge. In recent years, dozens of them have been respectively awarded by the district, the municipal government and the Ministry of Education titles such as Chen Xiangmei Outstanding Teacher and “Zijin Cup” Excellent Headmaster. Thanks to the concerted efforts of all the teachers, our students have scored remarkable achievements in the senior high school entrance examinations as well as the national university entrance examinations. In addition, the school distinguishes itself with a variety of opportunities for students to develop their interests in extra-curriculum activities. We have won the titles of “Environmental-Friendly School”, “School of Good Citizens”, “Model School of Legal Education”, and “Special School for Artistic Education & Traditional Sports, Model School”. The Golden Sail Folk Music Orchestra, whose members are all our students, is our pride in particular. They have performed in countries and areas such as the U.S., Japan, Sweden, Australia, Canada and Hong Kong, sowing seeds of friendship wherever they go. Besides our basketball team, volleyball team, martial arts team, track and field team, rugby team are all among the best in Beijing. The female volleyball team has won the championship twice in Beijing inter-middle school matches.

With China opening wider to the outside world, the school is also actively involved in international exchanges. We host foreign teachers and students from Sweden, Australia, Japan, Slovenia, Great Britain and the U.S. every year. We have regular exchange programs for both teachers and students with our sister schools, Vasaskolan in Sweden and Hawkesdale P12 of Victoria in Australia. We have launched a new project with schools in London on “Application of Information Technology in Learning”.

To ensure better education and service for the community in the 21st century, the school leadership attaches even greater importance to innovation and creativity in terms of education concepts and methods. We are committed to the all-round development of our students and ready to work hard to produce students of integrity, initiative and social responsibility. Therefore, we look forward to more cooperation and exchange with schools all over the world.

